WOMEN'S WOES.

The Trouble the Lexington Ladies Had in Getting Out Their Paper.

The Lexington Leader of Tuesday contains the following tale of woe:

"The ladies in charge of the Washington Birthday edition of the Press-Transcript have had enough troubles to contend with to try the patience of saints, and never want to see the inside of a newspaper office again. The heartaches and disappointments of yesterday will never be forgotten, and the 'historic spots' of Central Kentucky will go unmarked if they wait for another woman's newspaper to raise the fund. The good ladies who undertook the arduous task of soliciting for the newspaper met with good success, and after paying for type setting, paper and other publication expenses, the net proceeds of the enterprise will be from $150 to $200."

In addition to this, a lady to whom the copy for a large number of advertisements was given to be delivered to the printer, took the package to the Press-Transcript office but finding no one in carried the copy home, placed it safely in her desk and forgot all about it not having been delivered until the paper was published without containing the advertisements.

The ladies of Frankfort who got out the Women's Edition of the ROUNDABOUT had no such worry. They held no public meetings to decide upon issuing the paper, it was gotten up on a week's notice, it was issued without a flourish of trumpets announcing its coming and without assistance from their sisters in other cities, the matter it contained was very interesting and of home production, every thing worked smoothly and the result was a paper which will compare favorably with the mammoth sheets gotten out by the ladies of the larger cities. We would respectfully suggest to the ladies of Lexington that when they contemplate going into the newspaper business again they come down and take counsel of the ladies of the Capital City and they may receive some pointers which may be valuable to them.

Judge Eastin.

The Contest Board, which had under consideration the contested election case of Boyle vs. Toney—the parties having been candidates for Judge of the Court of Appeals from the Louisville district at the last November election—on Monday evening declared, by a vote of three to two, Judge Toney elected—Gov. Brown and Auditor Norman voting for Boyle and Attorney General Hendrick, Secretary of State Headley and Treasurer Hale voting for Toney. When notified, Judge Toney declined to accept upon the ground that he did not receive the unanimous vote of the board, and the Governor on yesterday appointed Mr. George B. Eastin, a prominent Louisville attorney, to fill the vacancy until the next November election.

Best Paper Yet.

The Woodford Sun says: "The ladies of Frankfort edited and published the last week's issue of the FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT. They exhausted the eight pages of the regular issue before they were half through talking, and had to put the balance in a supplement. The ladies tackled every subject from the 'silver question' to 'woman's clubs' and 'men-devils' and it is simply justice to say that the ROUNDABOUT readers never had a better paper for the money—nor more of it."

PEORIA GLUTEN FEED.

FRANKFORT, January 17, 1895.
I did handle and feed thirty-three (33) cows; it took all of them to supply milk for my customers. PEORIA GLUTEN FEED was recommended to me as superior to any other and I gave it a careful and personal test. I can state that I have been able to dispose of eight (8) of my cows and am now milking only twenty-five (25), which yield more milk than the thirty-three did before using this feed.
